

Your husband comes home with a dozen red roses.

You have planned a trip to Paris.

You have just purchased 9 metres of white organza.

You have just bought a new puppy.

You have just poured yourself a huge glass of wine.

You have just dyed your hair mousey brown.

You make a phone call to the Water Department.

You and your daughter go out for pizza, just the two of you.

You walk to the post box and put in your envelope.

You have just bought a new memory stick.
